Native Products from Small Holder Farmers

Organo Botanica processes the finest quality of native organic fruits and nuts from the snow-capped Himalayan mountain region in the north, to the pristine oases in the burning desert sands in the south, off the coast of the Arabian Sea. We are a family owned company and work directly with small holder farmers.

Everything we do is tailor made to your wishes. After washing, each piece of fruit is meticulously inspected, sorted and graded gently by hand through several stages of processing, which ensures no foreign material ever goes undetected in the final product. We follow FSSC 22000 protocols in processing and representative samples are tested routinely in-house by our qualified microbiologists and in certified labs from each batch of shipment.
